Make the liturgy more enjoyable for young people.

May the bishops of the synod have really listened to, and learned from the loving kindness of the People of God.

That the church supports loving relationships and welcomes everyone.

Recognise church members where they are in life: single, gay, married or not. Love is stifled by a judgemental attitude but we are commanded to love each other- for example, many couples 'regularise' their relationships after recognition.

That the church learns to listen to and be guided by the realities of families today. Practising doesn't mean to be perfect

Help the church to be more open to change and to move more quickly to adapt to demands of life today

That the church should follow Pope Francis' example - living simply. Showing Christians and non-Christians that the church doesn't use its monetary riches internally - such as large presbyteries etc

I want to see the Church enabling loving communities, supporting us in our faith as we live our everyday lives

For the church to move forward quickly
Let us have married or celibate priests. Let nuns and deacons be able to celebrate mass.

That we will truly welcome everybody into our family of faith, and then enjoy the special gifts we can share as a growing family

That going to church be an experience of welcoming, of joy and true communion. That all be welcomed.

A Church that better supports couples and families staying together. And is less fixated with dictating who should be together in the first place.

May the Holy Spirit guide those in authority to learn about us and how we live now. The world changes: we must also change
